Two Alarms This Week

There was a small blaze at the Rink Sunday night which fortunately extinguished before much damage was done.

On Tuesday last the promptness of Alert Fire Company, No. 1, prevented the destruction of the home of Geo. Bell, a native living near the power house. The fire made considerable headway but after the arrival of the firemen it was soon under control. It was confined to the roof and was caused by a defective stove pipe.

Unemployed unmarried men are compelled to go unsheltered at Seattle, so far as getting work is concerned. Thirteen hundred men have applied to the city for work.

Sacramento authorities have given 1500 free meal tickets to the unemployed, also food and clothing. Donations were distributed. City and county will co-operate in providing work for the men.

Miss Mabel Blondin of Eureka, Cal., was killed when a log upon which she was sitting was struck by a wave and rolled on her.

All roads lead to the rink.

Moving The Cable Office

Hereafter there will be only one government telegraph office in Wrangell, the cable and wireless offices will be under one roof at the wireless station, the change will be made next Monday.

The Luther Burbank Company has placed valuable seeds in the safety deposit vaults in Frisco. The seeds represent more than 25 years work.

On the complaint that not enough clothes went with the act, the Chief of police of San Jose, Calif., forbade a burlesque of the "American Chicken," by Miss Lallie Brooks, on English music hall performer.

It is reported in court circles that Grand Duke Charles Francis Joseph, the presumptive heir to the Austrian throne, will shortly take a tour around the world with his wife, the Princess Zita of Parma and Bourbon. The youthful couple will visit the United States and are expected to spend 10 days in New York, Boston and Washington. The report fails to state that Wrangell is on their itinerary.

Boiler Blows Up At School

There was an accident at the public school last night. The steam heat is on the hummer today and the school is out of business. Apparently there was a fire started in the furnace and after the boiler was hot, cold water was turned in and the whole front section burst. This is a very unfortunate occurrence to happen at this time of the year when the heat is an absolute necessity.

EDITORIAL

At the regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce last Monday night there was a good attendance. The most vital subject of the community, the Townsite Survey, was thoroughly discussed. This Chamber of Commerce was born out of a realization that individual effort could only produce results beneficial to the individual, combination of efforts is necessary when mutual protection or general good of the town is concerned, hence the Chamber of Commerce have taken it upon themselves to seek relief for the citizens of Wrangell by communicating with the Land Department at Washington, also the Surveyor-General at Juneau, and circulate a petition demanding that some action be taken in the settlement of the townsite survey, and praying for immediate relief. The proposed Stikine River trail war also discussed, it was decided that a committee be appointed to confer with Mr. Weige, of the Forest Service, in regard to an appropriation for the trail. There was also a publication committee appointed, whose duty it shall be to publish a prospectus of Wrangell. It was also resolved that the Chamber correspond with the Portland Chamber of Commerce complimenting them on their success in establishing a steamboat service between their city and Alaska.

The idea of sending a petition to Delegate Wickersham at Washington, demanding a settlement of this townsite survey, is a good one. It is immaterial which way it shall be settled by the department, what we want is a settled, one way or the other, the fact that our citizens sign this petition and combine efforts is sure to have the desired effect, therefore the department is obliged to give us what we ask for. If an individual writes to the land office he simply represents one, and therefore his importance is relatively small, his requests can be laid to one side or may be refused with ease by the land office. But on the other hand when it is the voice of the community that speaks and presents the matter advocating a action, it is representative of the property owners and it will naturally speak with authority, and its words will be carefully weighed by the Land Office. So you see, Mister Businessman, you owe a duty to yourself as well as that of the town to become a member of the Chamber, and put your shoulder to the wheel of commerce and lay all personal prejudice aside. The Chamber of Commerce offers the merchants a means of crystallizing their business opinions in a fair and equitable way, and to make them effective. It helps them in the solution of their various problems through the exchange of ideas, and thus help to strengthen the business situation of the town. The only way to gain success is by co-operation therefore we should extend our efforts in uniting for our own interests and the good of the town in general. The time has arrived when the hatchet should be buried and factions dissolve, and every citizen of our town should combine efforts and work in unison to accomplish one definite end: the settlement of this disputed townsite survey, which has been a blot on our town for years.

It is plainly the fact that but for the United States, incidentally backed by military preparedness, European warships would now be in Mexican ports, and Huerta and Carranza would find themselves under the pressure of a European concert of some kind. Action of that sort differs materially from the course pursued under the policies of this country. The nation of Europe have been territorially aggressive, and the principal of compensation is enforced in their dealings with each other and with foreign states. There are great undeveloped resources in Mexico, and Europe has been wise to the fact ever since the discovery of America. The configuration of Mexico, its climate, productivity and long ocean frontage were noted early in the game by the races foremost in commerce, and Mexico would be a European possession today, a monarchical dependency, were it not for the fact that our dear old Uncle Sam had his powerful republic planted next to it on the map.

Instead of seeking intervention the United States has averted it. In one period intervention, taking the form of rule under an emperor of foreign birth, was ended by this country, and Mexico resumed its place as a self-governing republic. Our injunction to Europe on American territory is "Hands off" and it has been effectively asserted when occasion has arisen. At the same time we have avoided any act that could justify the name of unscrupulous aggression. If a majority of Europeans asked that their country should be added to our territory the matter should be considered on its merits. As the situation stands it is the United States that prevents intervention. The anarchy that has prevailed so long in Mexico, and that has become terribly intensified, may eventually force intervention by this country, but it will be as beneficial as is consistent with practical common sense.

He Was Enlightened.
We don't approve of the impertinence, but perhaps in the following case the grumpy street car passenger got no more than he deserved. He had asked a conductor if he knew when a certain train left the North station, and on being answered in the negative he exclaimed offensively, "Why is it that this road employs so many farmers?" "Just to look after the cattle that travel on the cars," was the conductor's quick retort.--Boston Transcript.
